

“The Assassin’s Accomplice: Mary Surratt and the Plot to Kill Abraham Lincoln”

by Kate Clifford Larson
Reviewed by Larry Cox

Mary Surratt earned her place in American history books on the afternoon of July 7, 1865, when less than three months after the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln, she became the first woman executed by the United States government. When Kate Clifford Larson, a historian and author of the celebrated biography of Harriet Tubman, began researching her latest book, she assumed that Mary Surratt was a minor participant in the plot to kill the president. She was wrong. She quickly discovered that Andrew Johnson was probably correct when he described Surratt as the woman who kept the nest that hatched the egg. Although there have been countless books written about the Lincoln assassination, most of the attention has been focused on John Wilkes Booth and three of his accomplices, Lewis Payne, David Herold and George Atzerodt. Historians have generally portrayed Surratt as a 43-year-old widow, devout Catholic, boardinghouse owner and Confederate sympathizer who just happened to be at the wrong place at the wrong time with the wrong people. It took Larson’s meticulous research to finally connect the dots and show just how deeply she was involved. Following the murder, Mary Surratt became one of the most hated people in the country. Her lawyers were green and unprepared, and her trial before a military commission was a foregone conclusion. The one person who might have saved her, her son, John, hid in Canada while both the trial and execution unfolded. Using interviews, confessions and court testimony, Larson provides an insightful, fresh perspective on America’s most famous murder. “The Assassin’s Accomplice” is historical reporting at its very best. (c) 2008 King Features Synd., Inc.

Grandpa's Courtyard

Bob and Margo Sturges

They work with many artists to bring you “one of a kind” home decor, art and furniture. We offer rustic teak furniture made of the finest quality for your home, office, garden or patio. We have wagon wheels, cow skulls and wooden Indians, too!

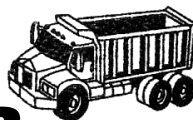

Stroll through our “Iron Garden” to see the various styles of wrought-iron furniture & art for sale displayed with a large selection of colorful pottery of the highest quality from the artisan villages of Mexico.

Is your style Ranch, Cowboy, Adobe, Farm, Whimsey, Rust, Cabin, or Southwest? Then stop by and see what’s in store for you at Grandpa’s Courtyard! They have it all....and if they don’t, they will sure try to find it for you!

(760)365-8999

OASIS DISPOSAL TRASH BINS

*“You gather it up...
... We haul it away!”*

We’ll drop off a bin at your home or jobsite, you load it with trash and we’ll haul it away

760-363-1322

Serving the Morongo Basin

WORD SCRAMBLE

Rearrange the letters in each word to spell something pertaining to Father’s Day.

NSRECIRLE

ANSWER: Recliners

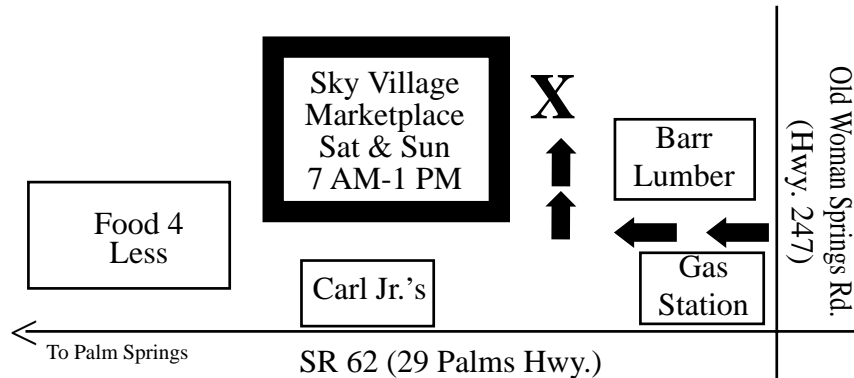

WORD SCRAMBLE

Rearrange the letters in each word to spell something pertaining to Father’s Day.

LOGF BSULC

ANSWER: Golf clubs

SKY VILLAGE MARKETPLACE AND SWAPMEET

Open Every Saturday & Sunday, 8am-2pm

Located in the Sky Drive-in Swap Meet behind Barr Lumber in Yucca Valley.