Patriotic theme prevails at Ashburn reunion

The descendants of James R and Sarah Key Ashburn held their annual reunion on Sept. 25 at the Calvary Baptist Church Fellowship Hall. Hosting were the Wade and Mildred Ashburn Marion children: Dwight and Brenda Marion Buffalo, Wade and Libby Marion, Mike and Patricia Marion Crews, Kenneth and Mitzi Marion, and Mike and Cathy Marion.

This year’s theme was “Honoring Our Troops” past and present. Relatives entered the parking lot between two white trucks, carrying American Flags provided by Kenneth. Patricia and Libby and their daughters Lara Crews and April Marion Robinson were in charge of decorations: centerpieces on each table were various military mugs holding small American flags, and posters from all branches of the military were around the hall. Wade was given a flag by Rep. Virginia Foxx, which had flown over the Capitol, to honor the Ashburn soldiers and their family. Mike was the resident short-order cook, assisted by Mike Crews and Ashley Marion. Dwight and Brenda were in charge of “spreading the word” and ordering the hot dogs, hamburgers and buns.

Patricia has researched the military past, and discovered that Ashburns were active in all the wars, beginning with Martin Ashburn in the Revolutionary War, through the War of 1812, Spanish-American War, WWI, WWII, Korean War, Vietnam, and present-day soldiers Adam and Cory Parker, grandsons of Opal Ashburn Parker. A special guest was family friend, Jack Leach, who is a Pearl Harbor survivor and Korean War Veteran.

Approximately 90 family members and guests attended.
Their children are, front, Darrell Parker, Kenneth Marion, Edie Ashburn LeMons, Shirley Ashburn Woods, Mike Mario; back, Rusty Ashburn, Reggie Johnson, Debbie Nichols Howlett, Anita Nichols John, Wade Marion, Brenda Marion Buffaloe, Judy Ashburn Kirkman, Grey Parker, Sandy Ashburn Nester and Mike Estes.
Ashburn reunion

Their grandchildren are, front, Ashley Marion, Dedera Woods Knight, Terri Woods Hazelwood, Lara Crews, April Marion Robinson, back, Jathina Coalson, Ken Marion Jr., Leigh Martin Moore, Chris Estes, Kyle Marion, and Katie Marion.

These folks are lovingly called “the out-laws,” rather than in-laws. They are, front, Dawn Wood, Libby Marion, Cathy Marion, Tammy Estes, Sandra Parker, Wendy Estes, back, Hassell Woods, Mike Crews, Cecil Knight Jr., Eddie Nester, George Howlett, Dwight Buffaloe, Jim Kirkman, Nicki Huffman and Jack Leach.
Ruby Lambert was honored at a 90th birthday luncheon Sunday following the morning worship service at Central United Methodist Church. The Rev. John Ferree, pastor, recognized Ruby’s birthday.

Hosting the celebration were her daughter and son-in-law, Arlette and Doug Porter and son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Mary Lambert. Also assisting were Ruby’s sister, Marilyn Ledford, and niece, Donna Smith.

Randle Brim, family friend, writer and photographer from Asheboro, taped, not only the party, but the worship service and Pat Woltz’s Sunday School Class, both of which Ruby attended.

A very special family member present was Ruby’s brother, Dr. Gilmer Blackburn, who was born on her 19th birthday. He was accompanied by his wife, Martha. He is Provost at the University of Virginia at Wise. Ruby is the eldest child of Rufus and Hettie Blackburn and the widow of Fred L. Lambert.

Mary Planer catered the luncheon with about 200 guests enjoying the celebration. The tiered birthday cake, created by Mary Lambert, featured a circle tiered base that Fred Lambert made for his father-in-law’s 80th birthday.

The fellowship hall was beautifully decorated with some of Ruby’s memorabilia. “I wonder how they got all of this out of my house because I haven’t missed a thing,” she told the group. One corner was devoted to memories of her days at Quality Mills and Cross Creek Apparel where she worked for many years. Other photos held family photos and her pictures from birth.

Those attending from out of town were: Carolyn Blackburn of Raleigh; Frankye and Bill Crump of Summerfield; Greg Blackburn and wife Chenney of Blowing Rock; James Blackburn and mother, Sara Blackburn and Sarah Simpson of Arbor Acres, Winston-Salem; Pat Kittrell of Lynchburg, Va.; Jamie Bollman’s family of Winston-Salem; Paul and Brenda Dunlevy of Kernersville; Chuck and Carolyn Porter of Charlotte and Joe Banner of Raleigh.

Greetings were received from many others who could not attend, including Ruby’s grandson, Dee Porter and his wife Meghann of Oxford, Miss., where he is working on his PHD at the University of Mississippi, and two granddaughters, Dr. Cornelia Lambert of Oklahoma City, Ok., where she teaches at the University of Oklahoma and Amanda Miller of Atlanta, Ga., both daughters of the late Fred Lambert, Jr.

Ruby confessed that she was amazed with so many friends and relatives turning out for the party. Then she asked, “How can I somehow express my appreciation to my wonderful friends at Central who helped make this day so special?”

OCTOBER 21, 2010
SURRY SCENE
Enjoying the 1965 class reunion of J.J. Jones School are Josie Ann Snow, Jewel Hauser, Clara Cropps, Mary Nell Cropps and Mary Nell Hatcher.
The 1965 graduating class of J.J. Jones School gathered Oct. 9 for a reunion at Veterans Park and to participate in the Autumn Leaves Festival.

The meeting brought together many ideas, policies and procedures that will be employed by the class to further the efforts of the J.J. Jones Alumni Association in their pursuit of their mission statement.

The event opened with master of ceremonies Jackie Snow calling names of each member unable to attend the event because of family health issues: Nancy Graham Irby, Ike France and Cleveland Jessup. Those present sent messages to the classmates.

The return to the city by those currently residing in El Paso, Texas; Flint, Mi.; Copiague, N.Y.; Atlanta, Ga.; Barrington, Ill.; Annapolis, Md.; and Harrisburg, Pa. indicates the appreciation for the work and dedication of the faculty and staff and the family atmosphere promoted by parents and alumni of J.J. Jones School.

A 45-year time span lends itself to many changes in the status of those in the graduating class of 1965. Most of the young men are military veterans with service in foreign theaters of combat operations. Class members have established their academic and athletic achievements and distinguished professional careers.

The reunion brought together the class in a forum hosted at the J.J. Jones School library. This time was designated to reacquaint each of the members and introduce their families and friends. The atmosphere was eclectic and brought much joy and many smiles to the faces of those who had not seen or spoken to some of their classmates since graduation. Many tears of joy were shed by those just being back at the school and reminiscing about the times when they were walking the halls of J.J. Jones.

A banner for the class of 1965 was made and each member that has passed away was given a place at the top of the banner with their names and year of death inscribed. Each member of the class in attendance was required to sign the banner with the current year.

A class meeting was held to elect new officers of the class, and surprisingly, those who served office their senior year are the ones elected to serve the same office. They are: Jackie Snow, president; Nancy Bowman Williams, vice president; Jewell Adams Hauser, treasurer; and Rosa Tucker Opolus, secretary.

The program consisted of a welcome statement by Rosa Tucker Opolus, invocation by Ira Clark, guest recognition by Nancy Bowman Williams, tribute to those class members that have passed by Mary Hatcher, the signing of the school alma mater, Special Recognition of those members that made significant contributions to the success of the program were: Jewell Adams Hauser, Mary Nell Hatcher, Rosa Tucker Opolus, Nancy Bowman Williams, Elaine Joyce Norris, Patsy Jessup Helton and Sam Gunter.

A special moment was held for the class to sing the school fight song lead by Ettaven Love Carroll. Class members and visitors alike clapped, yelled and stood up and cheered remembering the days when the basketball team was at its best.

Each class member was given several minutes to speak about their special moments at the school. The discussion was joyful, tearful and enlightening. Many in attendance said they were amazed by the recollections of the speaker.

Special thanks were extended to Edward McDaniel and Ron Snow for providing memorabilia and other artifacts for the video showing pictures from high school days.

The event was culminated with dinner and dancing.
Garden clubs attend district IV meeting

A flower designer for 30 years, his clients have included Replacements of Greensboro, Architectural Digest, Better Homes and Garden, Elegant Bride and Thomasville Furniture and many happy brides and bride’s mothers. The flower arrangements were auctioned after the program by District 1V Director Ernestine Leonard, also a member of the Pinnacle Garden Club. About 170 garden club members from Surry, Stokes, Yadkin and Forsyth counties attended the annual meeting.
Dobson garden club dedicates garden plantings

Members of the Friends and Flowers of Surry County gathered recently to dedicate the plantings at the downtown flagpole in Dobson. The gardeners have uncovered a granite walkway and beautified the area with plants and seasonal flowers. They are, from left, Linda Haney; Marilyn Guyer, secretary; Sheila Cave, president; Trish Draughn, treasurer; Mary Margaret Hothem, club organizer; Dana Workman; Juanita Gillespie and Carlene Atkins, vice president. The Friends and Flowers of Surry is sponsored by Modern Gardeners of Mount Airy. Attending the dedication from Modern Gardeners were Mimi Patterson and Juanita Daber.

Among those attending the dedication and reception were, from left, Commissioner Bill Hamlin, the Rev. Kathy Early, Dobson Mayor Rick Draughn and Commission Jim Harrell.

McRay Smith celebrates his 40th birthday

The Surry County Community Appearance Award has been presented to Russ Vornold and Debi Dikeman, owners and operators of Twin Willows Kings, home to champion bred King Shepherds.

The property was previously owned by Joe Simmons, who now lives down the road. His sister and her husband Ailene and Richard Birkholtz built the house that is now on the property in 1999. Russ Vornold and Debi Dikeman moved to the property in October of 2006 and made more changes to the property including a pond. The address is 185 Cleo Cain Rd, Westfield.

The appearance of this property has been noticed as being very well taken care of and maintained. The Surry Appearance Commission members said it is a pleasure to see a business being maintained in a quiet country setting and is representative of the values they look for when bestowing this honor.

“Members of the commission congratulate Russ and Debi for maintaining their property and thank them for picking Surry County as their residence and place of business,” said Appearance Commissioner Chair Tana Mills.

Franklin Heights homcoming luncheon

Elsie Hutchens and Arvilly Conner wait to get in line for the buffet luncheon at Franklin Heights United Methodist Church.
